NATIONAL DEFENSE PAC ENDORSES STEPHEN BAILEY FOR ELECTION TO THE U. S. CONGRESS HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES IN THE COLORADO 2ND CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

NATIONAL DEFENSE PAC HQ, Washington, DC: June 21, 2010

Today, NATIONAL DEFENSE PAC announced their endorsement of Stephen Bailey for election to the U. S. Congress from the 2nd Congressional District of Colorado. NATIONAL DEFENSE PAC Chairman, Rear Admiral [Ret.] James J. Carey stated, “Stephen Bailey has NATIONAL DEFENSE PAC’s full support for election to the U.S. Congress. He served our country in the U.S. Air Force, put himself on the line to defend our nation when called and is committed to keeping the promises made to our veterans when they agreed to risk their lives to face America’s enemies. Stephen is who we want in Congress making decisions that impact our military veterans and today’s young Americans serving in our Armed Forces. He, as a veteran, understands what it takes to train, fight and win. He also understands the importance of ensuring the decision to commit our military is right before we send our Nation’s most precious asset, our sons and daughters, into harm’s way.”

Stephen enlisted in the U.S. Air Force to serve his country while taking advantage of the Air Force's tuition benefits. Stephen was stationed at March AFB near Riverside, California. He was recognized as Airman of the Year in 1983. During his enlistment, the country was blessed with years of peace. He used his Air Force tenure to complete his Bachelors degree in Computer Science from Chapman University in Orange, California. Shortly after his honorable discharge, he put his college education to work in the high tech software industry of southern California. He also enrolled in graduate studies earning his Masters in Computer Science in 1989 from Chapman University. His leadership in industry standards, conferences and publications provided valuable experience in forging coalitions based on shared values. He used these skills to shepherd competitors into cooperation based on mutually beneficial goals that did not require the compromise of fundamental principles.

Admiral Carey stated, "The 2nd Congressional District of Colorado is home to many military veterans and an equally significant number of men and women, both active duty, guard & reserve, serving in the military today. They need Stephen representing them in Congress. NATIONAL DEFENSE PAC intends to do all it can to help make that happen".

Colonel (Ret.) Craig Carlson, National Defense PAC Executive Director, stated, "NATIONAL DEFENSE PAC has earned a reputation for endorsing winning candidates because we back men and women that have proven integrity forged in patriotic selfless military service. The American people trust our military and vote for our candidates. Our goal in 2010 is to endorse as many candidates that can meet our standard, and elect them all."
